Heritage Education Officer – 18 hours/week

This post will lead a fascinating Heritage and Religious Education programme based in the historic University Church. The programme involves extensive engagement with schools, families, visitors, new audiences and the community, and the building of a team of volunteers. The post holder will develop existing resources for school RE and History sessions, and design and run a range of public events and holiday activities, in our dynamic heritage education centre at the heart of Cambridge.

The role calls for excellent organizational, interpersonal, IT, report writing and financial skills; an understanding of the Christian faith, experience in education, and love of history; flexibility, creativity, enthusiasm and enterprise are all essential.

Salary for 18 hours/week £12,940 (pro rata £26,240). The appointment is for 18 months in the first instance subject to review thereafter.
